Inspired pupil from Elie Primary School wins a 1st Level Award at London 2012 education awards.

Some of the country's brightest young people visited Glasgow City Chambers to receive medals for their work on the Inspire-Aspire programme from Olympic Gold Medallist rower, Katherine Grainger CBE, IOC member Sir Craig Reedie CBE and the Lord Provost of Glasgow Cllr Sadie Docherty.

The Inspire-Aspire Awards programme reached 25,000 young people this year by using the Olympic and Paralympic Games and the character qualities of Olympians to inspire young people to set personal goals and to develop future aspirations.

Elie Primary School scooped up two awards at the ceremony, with Amy Christie winning a Primary 5, 1st Level award and Eleanor Pendry receiving the Primary 7, 3rd Level award at the event. Elie Primary School also had a staggering three other National Finalists who also received a certificate for their poster efforts.

Amy chose Jessica Ennis as her inspirational figure as part of her work on the programme. Expressing her reasons for her chosen inspirational figure, Amy said:

"her values are not to let GB down, she is so determined to do well in each race".

Before presenting the awards, Olympian Grainger told an enthralled audience that it takes commitment and courage to reach the top. She spoke about how it was sheer determination that had helped her finish the race at the London Olympics in 2012. Grainger expressed how important using the Olympic and Paralympic values in everyday life can be, not just in sport.

Inspire-Aspire aims to help young people gain a better understanding of their own character qualities and values and inspire them to create a personal development plan. Amy explained how much of an impact participating in Inspire-Aspire has had on her:

"I have learnt about the Olympic values and thought about what I am good at and what I can improve on."
